Little Brown & Co, 1994. Soft cover. Book Condition: New. Book Description A collection of characters and incidents from Canadian history that are sure to entertain and delight. --This text refers to the Paperback edition. From the Back Cover From the discovery of dinosaur bones in Alberta to Jacques Plante's invention of the hockey mask and Marshall McLuhan's radical analysis of the media and the modern world, Just A Minute free-wheels through some of the most interesting and human stories of a nation that was named "Kanata" after the Iroquois word for "village." Did you know that the McIntosh apple came from one accidental tree? Laura Secord never had a cow. Baseball was being played in Canada a full year before American Abner Doubleday claims to have invented the game? Governor Frontenac came to Quebec City to avoid his French creditors? And did you know that "truth, justice and the American way" was a Canadian invention? This is a hugely readable, historically accurate, and wildly entertaining volume that will leave readers constantly saying to themselves, "I don't know that." --This text refers to the Paperback edition. About the Author Author Marsha Boulton is a journalist and writer whose work has appeared in Maclean's, Canadian Business, Chatelaine and Toronto Life magazines, to name only a few. Her "Letter from the Country" is a regular feature on CBC Radio. Her historical anecdotes, under the heading "Heritage Highlights" were syndicated by the Thomson chain, and reached grassroots Canada through over 450 weekly community newspapers nation-wide from Dawson Creek, Northwest Territories to Happy Valley, Labrador. Ms. Boulton has worked with Heritage Project Creative Director Patrick Watson on the research and scripting for many of the 60 "Heritage Minutes" which have been shown on national television and in Cineplex Odeon theaters thorough out the country. Her...
